Research and Planning

In order to compete in online marketing, it is important to understand your market and be sure you are building a site to target that market. Incorporating elements such as search engine optimized content, clear navigation, helpful information in your field, and special offers will help bring clients to your site.

Site Structure Creation

Based on research and planning, a site map will be created that will layout your services/products in the best way to achieve your desired objectives. Whether informational or lead generating, your site will appeal to your target audience.

Web Copy

Web copy should be simple, exciting, and powerful in order to get people to respond. Our team ensures that your website is welcoming and easy to read, yet powerful enough to get your key messages across effectively. Using the language that is relevant to your prospects along with influential headlines is essential to building a successful website.

SEO (Search Engine Optimization)

SEO is the key to building a strong website. Our team is trained to use multiple SEO techniques and help your site rank well on the search engines. We focus on organic SEO, including proper keywords, text, titles, descriptions, and layout. We will always build a site with organic SEO because we believe in doing things right. We promote organic SEO to build a strong foundation for growing web visibility and preparing for pay-per-click advertising options.

Graphic Design

Having a site that reflects your company's style and image is important in setting you apart from your competitors. Our design team is experienced and will work with you to create a unique and appealing website that matches your overall business identity. Or we can rebrand your image to give your website, brochures, flyers and business cards a consistent look.

Website Statistical Reporting

Understanding where your visitors come from and how they interact with your site will allow you to reach your target market more effectively. Our marketing team will provide you with reports and recommendations to help improve your website traffic and create a higher-converting website.

Website Trending and SEO

Creating a search engine optimized website is only the beginning. Keeping up with SEO trends will ensure that your website is ranking well and your clients are able to find you. As our client, you will receive a monthly stats report indicating the SEO status of your website. At a quarterly review, our team will help you evaluate your keyword search, make keyword adjustments, review stats reports and provide you with recommendations.
